EDUCATED CHINAMAN.

Used the Vernacular of the West with Surprising Facility.

The educated Chinaman of the present day is such a cosmopolitan and understands so many languages that it is never safe to presume on his ignorance of the local lingo. An amusing illustration of the truth of this comes from Berlin. The kaiser. complimenting the new Chinese minister on his excellent German, the man in the yellow jacket replied: I can do better-I can speak the Berlin dialect. One day, during the occupation of Peking, I encountered not understand him, took the liberty to address me as follows: 'Wait, you Chinese baggage; if ever I catch you in the dark I will twist your queue majesty ought to have seen the soldiers' faces," concluded the minister. "If you yourself had addressed them ished and frightened."

Curious Scientific Fact.

It is known that radio-active substances, like radium, impart radioactivity to other substances, and R. Geigel has attempted to show whether the absorption of energy is accompanied by any increase in weight. He was unable to detect any such effect. With a much more sensitive apparatus Carl Forche has repeated the work. making numerous weighings of 56 grams of lead, and has found that a arge mass of active material half an inch below the lead increased the weight of the latter about one part in twenty-five million.
